

The Senate Caucus to End Human Trafficking invites you to attend our upcoming briefing:

Slavery in the Global Marketplace: Human Trafficking in Supply Chains and on the Outlaw Ocean

Tuesday, September 29, 2015

3:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Senate Visitors Center – Room 215

The Senate Caucus to End Human Trafficking, Co-Chaired by U.S. Senators Richard Blumenthal (D-Conn.) and Rob Portman (R-Ohio), invites you to join us for an important briefing about human trafficking in the global marketplace.

In light of the recent U.S. State Department's 2015 Trafficking in Persons Report and The New York Times series on lawlessness and trafficking on the high seas, this briefing will provide an overview of the problems in the global marketplace, actions that are being taken to address trafficking on the seas and in supply chains, and what should be done to effectively combat this problem.
